

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The portable type irrigator according to the present invention comprises a suction hose, an air pump and a nozzle injection part by which the liquid is passed and the 5 liquid contained in the liquid reservoir is directly injected into a large intestine through the anus or an interior of the vaginal canal to irrigate the large intestine or the vaginal canal by using the supplied liquid, and is characterized in that the suction hose is integrally connected to a flange of the liquid supplying body, the nozzle injection part be connected to a connecting member of the liquid supplying body in a spiral manner, and the air pump
10 is mounted to a lower side of the entrance/exit passage for liquid communicated with a supplying passage of the liquid supplying body.